

Burlington, Vermont's lively band of singers

Mission Statement

The purpose of Social Band is to present acoustic choral music performances to the public in a variety of venues large and small; to enrich the public understanding of choral music traditions from various cultures and from different times in history; to educate young and old in choral performance; to foster the joyful expression of music; and to broaden the opportunities and venues for acoustic musical expression by the public. We share our gifts and talents in music through public performances – hoping to gain a larger and larger following of people who find pleasure in making and listening to a cappella choral music. We strive to enlighten the public to the vast varieties of vocal music that can be found throughout history and throughout the world. In addition to performances, we produce recordings, give workshops, encourage new compositions, and, in any other ways we can conceive, bring music that we love to the public. We hope to bring joy to their hearts and peace to their minds.
