

Burlington, Vermont's lively band of singers

Praise for Social Band

Your concert was so splendid... all your voices mingling in a mighty power... filling the spaces in our hearts.

I experience them as very transformative singers... I was changed in my very self... I often weep at their concerts. One of the things that is very moving to me about the Social Band is that I experience in their singing that they are giving birth to community... I know that they are a community in themselves – but the way they sing – they sing the songs of old community and they write their own music that carries on the truth that is living in this old music.

What a beautiful addition the Social Band was to our Hospice Memorial Service... Music and song has always been a special part of our service, but your voices were like angels and far exceeded our expectations. The songs that you chose were spiritual and profound...

Our Annual Service of Remembrance and Hope was a meaningful and heartwarming time together. Social Band's contribution to the service was AMAZING! Sharing of yourselves in order to provide an atmosphere for people to remember their loved ones was truly a gift to all those present... The compassion demonstrated combined with the beautiful voices truly enriched the service... Social Band is a wonderful part of our community and we are passing the word around town!

I have heard the majority of Burlington performances by Social Band over the last few years and have been impressed, as I have spoken with their members, by their dedication to performance of music that is different from what our other choirs sing.
